To avoid any confusion, DPCA Rescue Committee would like to clarify which Dobermans are eligible for participation in the DPCA Parade of Rescues. In general and for purposes of the DPCA Parade of Rescues, we define a "rescue dobe" as a dog that finds itself homeless & is adopted, generally from a rescue organization or shelter. A stray that is found and kept by the original person who found the dog would also be eligible as a rescue. We feel this differs substantially from someone who purchases a dog from a pet store or a breeder, regardless of the purchaser's motivation because money paid to rescue organizations or shelters is used to rescue future dogs in need, and does not profit any individual or company.

Dogs who have been purchased from a breeder or pet store or directly re-homed by a responsible breeder shall not be eligible to be exhibited in the DPCA Parade of Rescues.
